During the previous sessions we developed an understanding of the situation and learned how everyone could make a change on the very practical level. But mobility is not just a local responsibility of practitioners on the ground. Let's switch one level up: how can decision-makers contribute to better conditions for innovative approaches to mobility and accessibility in rural Europe? We will gather experts from politics, administration and academia to discuss how decision-makers can contribute to tackling these challenges.

About MAMBA

With decreasing and ageing populations in many rural areas in the Baltic Sea Region, it is becoming increasingly difficult to keep up public transport and other services that depend on mobility, such as home care or home deliveries. This reduced accessibility of services impacts life quality of people living outside urban centres.

The MAMBA project aims to meet this challenge by promoting sustainable “people-to-service” and “service-to-people” mobility solutions in rural areas. MAMBA partners collaborate to improve the integration of existing mobility structures with innovative mobility solutions like citizen buses, mobility as a service (MaaS) and ride sharing applications. The goal is to maximise mobility and accessibility of services in rural regions, while involving users in the process.

The MAMBA web conference series “No future for Rural Europe? Breaking the vicious circle with successful mobility and accessibility solutions” invites you to a journey that leads from awareness through understanding up to readiness and motivation for real changes. If you want to embark with us on this journey, we recommend that you sign up for all three sessions, but you may also decide for individual sessions.
